

Targeted RECLAIM and Behavioral Health Juvenile Justice (BHJJ)

State Fiscal Year 2010

TARGETED RECLAIM

Targeted RECLAIM funding was awarded to the six counties that commit the most youth to the Ohio Department of Youth Services (DYS). These counties accounted for 63% of the total admissions to DHS in FY 2009, but received only 26% of the RECLAIM funds to courts.

Requirements for the funding include the following:

- All programs funded must be either model or evidence-based programs.
- Programs can only serve felony youth that would otherwise be committed to DHS.
- All program youth must be assessed using the Ohio Youth Assessment System (OYAS).
- Courts commit to a targeted reduction in DHS admissions from FY 2009 to FY 2010.
- Courts must participate in quarterly work group meetings and submit youth data.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH JUVENILE JUSTICE (BHJJ)

BHJJ funding was awarded to the same six counties receiving Targeted RECLAIM funding. The purpose of BHJJ is to enhance and expand the local child-serving systems' ability to identify, assess, evaluate and treat serious juvenile offenders having behavioral health needs and their families through the provision of evidence based and effective services that are culturally appropriate.

Common elements of the six BHJJ projects include:

- A partnership between the Juvenile Court and the Alcohol, Drug Addiction & Mental Health Services Board.
- Effective models of assessment, treatment planning, and family-focused community-based evidence-based practices.
- The pursuit of first and third party reimbursement, including Medicaid.
- Assessing youth using the Ohio Youth Assessment System (OYAS).
- Participation in an extensive evaluation by Kent State University.
- The identification and diversion from DYS and the juvenile justice system of serious juvenile offenders with serious behavioral health needs and a commitment to a reduction in DYS admissions from FY 2009 to FY 2010.
